

AMERICAN CHEESE SOCIETY

2006 JUDGING RESULTS

Hilton Portland Hotel

July 21, 2006

The American Cheese Society is an active, non-profit trade organization that encourages the understanding, appreciation and promotion of farmstead and natural specialty cheeses produced in the Americas and Canada. By providing an educational forum for cheesemakers and cheese enthusiasts, The Society fills an important gap in today's specialty food world.

The cheesemakers listed on the following pages represent all entrants for the 2006 Annual Cheese Competition. Winners in each category are listed separately. Unlike other cheese competitions, where cheeses are judged only on their technical merits, The American Cheese Society's goal is to give positive recognition to those cheeses that are of the highest quality in their aesthetic evaluation (i.e. flavor, aroma and texture), as well as, their technical evaluation. As a result, the highest quality cheeses are those that The Society feels deserve the recognition of an American Cheese Society award, based on a minimum number of points awarded (totaling 100 points possible) for First, Second or Third Place in each category or sub-category. Where the minimum number of points was not earned, no award was given for that category or sub-category.

The cheeses submitted for the 2006 Competition & Judging are exemplary of the cheesemakers' craft, a culinary art form that has taken the specialty food world by storm and we at The American Cheese Society applaud their efforts!

A MESSAGE FROM THE 2006 COMPETITION AND JUDGING CHAIR DAVID GROTENSTEIN:

Welcome to The American Cheese Society's 2006 Awards Ceremony. On behalf of our committee, our staff and volunteers and, most importantly, our cheesemaker members I thank you for joining us.

I've had the good fortune to spend some extra time here in this beautiful city, a cultural and culinary hotbed of the Pacific Northwest and have been thrilled by the anticipation and reception Portland has given this year's conference. We've seen record, sell-out crowds for 2006 and this increased awareness of American cheesemaking is reflected in an unprecedented number of entries for our annual Judging and Competition.

157 producers from 28 states (and two provinces) entered an astounding 941 cheeses, almost 200 more than last year's record 749. We were fortunate to have made some adjustments this year in the receiving and processing of cheeses and increasing the number of judges. The judging itself went very smoothly, your cheeses received the greatest of hands-on care throughout, and there are many to thank for that.

My personal thanks go out to John Greeley, Debra Dickerson, Tom Kooiman, Marci Wilson, Tony Butler and especially to Richard and Karen Silverston, whose thoughtfulness and hard work have brought the judging process from the pen-and-pencil era into the 21st century.

As the conference and all its elements grow, so does the need for volunteers. I share the gratitude all our committee chairs feel for those who helped this year. Everyone on our receiving team, who came in a week before the conference to unpack, check, categorize and stow your cheeses and all those on the competition team who dispatched cheeses to and from the judges' chambers, did so with a focus and enthusiasm that was unfaltering. Thank you for your incredible contributions.

Our deep, deep thanks to those who judged this year. There was a lot to taste, many decisions to make and much commentary to write. Our judges worked with vigor, excitement, professionalism and most importantly, good cheer. All our cheesemaker members, and we on the committee, thank you for your diligent and heart-felt work.

The Annual Conference remains one of the most unique events of its kind in the United States. Rarely does such a large group gather for the purpose of sharing ideas and techniques that help shape and drive the industry. Even with 22 categories and 91 subcategories, there are only a potential 273 ribbons to be handed out (plus Best of Show). That means the vast majority of entries will not receive awards.

Certainly our cheesemakers realize this going in, yet they continue to create and enter more and more cheese each year. It would seem that the idea of community far outweighs that of rivalry. People are striving not just for recognition but also for quality and inclusion amongst their peers. From the smallest farmstead operations to the largest dairy-producing cooperatives, everyone's game keeps improving within this friendliest of competitions.

We are proud to be a part of it. Congratulations to all of the entrants who placed in this year's Judging and Competition, and the same to those who did not, but who contributed equally to this remarkable event.

2006 Judges and Sponsors

MEET THE JUDGING TEAM

David Grotenstein, Fairway Market Chair Competition and Judging Committee

David Grotenstein has been a consultant in the specialty food industry since January 1997, working in management and staff training, merchandising, store design, layout and budgeting, publications and sign making for new and developing retailers, as well as product development for manufacturers and wholesalers. He has been in the food business for almost 26 years, having been a manager at Pasta & Cheese, DDL Foodshow and Mangia, a general manager and buyer for Fairway Market and Gourmet Garage and co-owner of Murray's Chelsea. He has worked with Murray's Cheese Shop, Wild Edibles Seafood, Oppenheimer Prime Meats in New York and recently completed work on the Fallon & Byrne Food Hall in Dublin, Ireland. In 2001 he helped open Fox & Obel Food Market in Chicago and Tuller Premium Foods in Brooklyn and other clients have included national chains such as Wild Oats, Whole Foods Market and Fuddruckers, as well as independent markets like Liberty Heights Fresh in Salt Lake City, Sickles' Farm Market of Little Silver, New Jersey, The Flying Pig Restaurant and Market of Mt. Kisco, New York and Kitchens of New York. In 2002, he co-founded with Mario Batali Molto Sugo LLC, who produce specialty food products under Batali's label. Products were launched at Trader Joe's nationwide and are currently sold exclusively at Whole Foods Northeast. In 2004, he rejoined the board of The American Cheese Society and chair the Competition and Judging Committee. A native New Yorker, he lives in Manhattan with his wife, Trudi and two children, Alec and Laura.

John Greeley, Sheila Marie Imports, Ltd. Co-Chair Competition and Judging Committee

John Greeley was born on the Isle of Jersey (home of the Jersey cow breed) and came to America when he was very young. He was educated at the University of Massachusetts-Amherst and says that his career choice of professional radio announcer slowly ended when he first tasted real, hand-made cheese. For 10 years, he operated the cheese division of John Dewar Meat Company and in 1990 became the founder and president of Sheila Marie Imports, Ltd. John holds degrees in cheese grading from the University of Wisconsin – Madison and in cheesemaking from Washington State University at Pullman. He served on The ACS Board of Directors for 12 years, chairman of The Cheese Competition Committee for eight years and is currently co-chair. John co-chaired The ACS Annual Conference in 1996 and 1999. He resides in Reading, Massachusetts with his wife and twin sons.

Ray Bair

Ray Bair is the owner of Cheese Plus, a cheese and specialty food market located in San Francisco, California. Ray's love for food began in his childhood as he foraged for fresh foods on his great-grandmother's farm learning to make fresh pasta, preserves and pastry for the family. Those formative years on the farm and in the kitchen made a marked impression upon his palate and imagination, fueling his quest for traditional foods and classic flavors. A 25 year veteran of the restaurant and specialty grocery industry, Ray has traveled extensively throughout the United States and Europe visiting retail shops, wineries, dairies and food manufacturing facilities to expand his knowledge and appreciation of our collective culinary heritage.

Marc Bates

Marc Bates, senior consultant has over 35 years experience in the food industry. His achievements include food inspection specialist for the United States Army, creamery operator and manager for the Washington State University Creamery for 27 years, official judge for the United States and World Cheese Championships, The American Cheese Society and the American Dairy Goat Association. Marc holds a membership in the International Association of Food Protection and Washington Association for Food Protection, of which he was president, the American Dairy Science Association, The American Cheese Society and the Institute of Food Technology. He specializes in training, product development and quality and food safety. Marc also has extensive experience in research within the dairy industry. He obtained his BS in animal science, dairy manufacturing and his BA in business administration at Washington State University.

Floyd Bodyfelt

Floyd Bodyfelt was raised on a dairy farm in Tillamook County, Oregon and worked in his local Tillamook County Creamery Association cheese factory before he could legally drive. Two Jersey cows put him through Oregon State University, where he received the last issued BS degree in dairy technology. He was a student contestant in the Collegiate Dairy Products Evaluation Contest in 1957, where he placed 3rd in the competition for cheddar cheese. After a three-year stint in the U.S. Army as a medical technologist, Floyd returned to OSU's Department of Food Science and Technology where he completed his MS thesis on the "fruity flavor defect of cheddar cheese". Simultaneously, Floyd was appointed as the OSU extension dairy processing specialist and taught the laboratory portion of a dairy processing course. Within a year, he became the manager for the OSU Creamery. During this time, he was also the superintendent of the Oregon Dairy Industries Association annual dairy products quality contest and recalls judging a class of 46 samples of medium aged cheddar, just before evaluating a set of 38 aged cheese contenders. Floyd's 35-year career at Oregon State University involved serving as the extension dairy processing specialist for the states of Oregon and Washington and teaching two courses for 30+ years (Dairy Processing and Dairy Products Sensory Evaluation). Floyd's OSU teams competed in the International Collegiate Dairy Products Evaluation Contest from 1967 through 1996; his teams placed first in 1984 and 1985. He has served as a cheese judge in the US and World Cheese Championship contests on six occasions and as the instructor for sensory evaluation of cheese at short courses in the states of Oregon, Washington, Utah, California, New York and Minnesota. Floyd, since his OSU retirement in 1997, has undertaken technical consultation in dairy technology and/or food safety in North Yemen, Sri Lanka, Thailand, Ukraine, Chile, Japan and China, while serving as a senior consultant/auditor for NSF, Cook and Thurber in Ann Arbor, Michigan.

Stephanie Clark, Ph.D.

Associate professor, Dr. Stephanie Clark joined the Department of Food Science and Human Nutrition at Washington State University in January 1998, after receiving her Ph.D. in food science from Cornell University (1997). She also received her MS in food science (1993) and BS in animal science (1990) from Cornell University. Dr. Clark's research team focuses on microbiology, chemistry and processing of dairy products, but also works in the area of produce development and sensory evaluation of a variety of foods and beverages. She teaches three classes entirely focused on dairy products, scientific writing and scientific oral presentations. Dr. Clark finds particular satisfaction in helping students apply their scientific knowledge and creativity to food. She is the advisor for the WSU Food Science Club, national award-winning WSU Food Product Development Team and WSU Dairy Products Evaluation Team. Dr. Clark was honored with the College of Agricultural, Human and Natural Resource Sciences' Excellence in Advising Award in 2004 and has been part of two teams recognized.

Michael Costello

Born in Tombstone, Arizona, Michael Costello grew up in the heart of California's Central Valley, where agriculture was the axis around which the local economy turned. As a child, he worked alongside Asian immigrants, bracero guest workers from Mexico and the homeless, hand-picking tomatoes for 21 cents per box. After experimenting briefly with a career as a merchant seaman, he eventually found his way to the University of California where he earned a bachelor's degree in animal sciences and a master's degree in nutrition. In 2003, he helped establish the Washington State University Sensory Analysis Service Center, which conducts sensory analysis on food products from around the Northwest. They conduct trained and untrained consumer panels. Since its establishment, the Sensory Lab has evaluated cheese, coffee, eggs, wine, strawberries, apples, ice cream, chocolate and fruit juices. For the past three years he has served as co-coach of the Washington State University Dairy Products Evaluation Team, which teaches students to critically evaluate cheddar cheese, yogurt, butter, cottage cheese, ice cream and fluid milk.

Judy Creighton

Judy Creighton is a cheese educator and former owner of cheese and wine shops in San Francisco for 25 years, as well as a consultant for importers and distributors. She served as a judge in the 2003 American Cheese Society competition in San Francisco. Judy teaches cheese classes at Cheese Plus in San Francisco, presents cheese and wine seminars for wineries, boutique hotels and non-profit events and is a guest lecturer at the City College of San Francisco Hotel and Restaurant Program. She also writes cheese columns for the Calaveras Enterprise and Central Sierra Seasons magazine. Judy now resides in Murphys, California.

Lisbeth Goddik, Ph.D.

Lisbeth Goddik grew up on a farm in Denmark. She immigrated to the U.S. prior to completing a degree in dairy engineering at Copenhagen's Royal Agricultural University. She received an MS in food science from Cornell University and a Ph.D. from Oregon State University. Lisbeth has worked for four different dairy companies in Europe, including three years at Yoplait's International Research Center in Paris. In her current position as Oregon State University's dairy processing extension specialist, she works with the local dairy processors. This work includes troubleshooting, training of plant employees and technology transfer. In addition, Lisbeth teaches the dairy processing courses at OSU; her research program is focused on raw milk and finished product quality. At the end of July, she will leave for a 12-month sabbatical in France. Lisbeth will be working at a large dairy school, which trains artisan cheesemakers. Furthermore, she will be working on the safety of French raw milk cheeses at the French Cheese Institute.

Martha Holmberg

Martha Holmberg is the new food editor of The Oregonian newspaper. Martha started her cooking career in Denver. Before moving to Portland in 2005, she was the publisher and founding editor of Fine Cooking magazine. In the early 90s, Martha worked in Paris and London as a cookbook editor. She was also the administrative director of La Varenne cooking school, both at The Greenbrier and in France. She received the Grand Diplome from La Varenne in 1988, after which she worked as a private chef for a diplomat in Paris.

Christine Hyatt

Christine Hyatt began her cheese adventures in 1998 at the original Central Market in Austin, Texas. There she was tasting, cutting, merchandising and selling hundreds of the world's finest cheeses and teaching classes in the CM Cooking School. In 2001, she took a position with Anco Fine Cheese as a cheese specialist focusing on merchandising and training for the HEB retail chain. After relocating to Portland in 2003, Christine joined DPI Northwest working in cheese marketing and education. It was here that she began to shepherd compelling product lines to market, develop creative marketing pieces and educate salespeople, retail and foodservice clients about cheese. In 2005, Christine launched "Cheese Chick" (Cheese-Chick.com) to promote her relaxed, fun and informative cheese tastings. She regularly contributes feature articles and cheese-centric recipes for regional and trade publications. Christine holds an english degree from Dickinson College.

Justin Jackson

Justin Jackson started working in retail at age 10 in a local Boston market. At 17, he began his "specialty" retail life in Cambridge, Massachusetts at Barsamians, working in prepared foods and cutting cheese to order. At age 19, he became prepared foods manager and at 20 took on corporate catering along with a shopping from home delivery program. In 1995, he joined Whole Foods in Wellesley, Massachusetts as team leader in the specialty department transforming it into a high-performing cheese destination over the next six months where he caught the attention of his future wife Rebecca. In 1996 he was promoted to the specialty coordinator position for Whole Foods Northeast where he oversaw the incorporation of both the Nature's Heartland and Fresh Fields New York, Connecticut and New Jersey stores into the Whole Foods family. He was responsible for coordinating the opening of specialty departments in several new stores including: Columbus Circle, Chelsea, White Plains and River St. (Cambridge). As coordinator, he also developed the chocolate, fresh olive, coffee and wine/beer departments into specialty departments of their own. In 2004, Justin accepted the specialty coordinator's (Cheese/Wine) position in the Whole Foods Northern Pacific region and in late 2005 moved into his current role as the grocery coordinator for the North Pacific Region. He resides with Rebecca and their three children in the East Bay city of El Cerrito.

Steve Jones

Steve Jones is the owner of Steve's Cheese, a retail cheese shop located in Portland, Oregon. Steve has worked in many aspects of the cheese buying/selling realm. Retail sales have been his primary focus, with time also spent working in importing and distribution, brokering and marketing. In 2001, Steve interned with Neal's Yard Dairy in London, focusing on affinage and marketing. Working with small producers has always been a central part of Steve's mission. His retail space highlights small producers from around the world.

David Lockwood

David Lockwood has worked in the cheese industry since 1985. He worked at Zingerman's Delicatessen until moving to London to work with Neal's Yard Dairy in 1991. David has worked in all aspects of the business, from retail to cheese care to trade sales. Currently he is financial director of Neal's Yard Dairy and makes as much time as possible to taste and care for cheese.

Andrea London

Andrea London has been in the specialty cheese world for over 20 years, as a shop owner, sales representative for two importer/distributors, director of cheese for Draeger's Markets, owner of an internet retailer and for three years, cheese buyer for The Cheese Shop in Carmel, California. She is a past judge at ACS and the solo judge for 18 years for a county fair's dairy goat products. She has been a member of ACS for 19 years and is a past board member. She is also a founding member of the California Artisan Cheese Guild and a member of Le Guilde de Fromagers since 1994.

Sarah Masoni

Sarah Zottola Masoni comes from a long line of cheese people. Her paternal grandmother's last name was Caso and her father's family-owned and operated a creamery in Northern California called Zottola's Creamery. Sarah's father left the family business in Grants Pass, Oregon to study dairy science at Oregon State University, later becoming a professor of food science at the University of Minnesota. Because of this legacy, Sarah's daily life growing up was often based upon dairy related activities. Sarah has participated regularly with the Oregon Dairy Industries product evaluations, has been an official judge for the annual international competition in the past and is always fine-tuning her taste buds with new and interesting dairy products. Sarah is an executive member of the Oregon Dairy Industries Board of Directors. Sarah has over 20 years experience as a project manager, product developer, technical sales representative and quality assurance manager. She has been product development manager at the FIC since December 2000.

Neville McNaughton

Neville McNaughton learned cheesemaking in New Zealand and graduated in 1975 with a diploma in dairy technology from Massey University. He has worked in open vat cheese plants and specialty cheese plants prior to opening Kapiti Cheeses Ltd. in New Zealand with a partner in 1983. This business was sold in 2003 having become New Zealand's premier cheese brand and most awarded cheese company. Neville has lived in the USA since late 1986 and worked for New Zealand Milk Products, Marin French Cheese and Imperial Biotechnologies. In 2003, Neville began doing business as CheezSorcer. His consulting business provides basic planning services for dairy plant operators, technical services and training, engineering guidance on construction and materials and designs specialized aging facilities for artisan and traditional cheesemakers. Based in Davisville, Missouri Neville is a cheese enthusiast and enjoys judging contests. He has 34 years experience in the cheese industry, has traveled and made cheese in many parts of the world and remains grateful for the fact that he grew up in a relatively backward part of New Zealand. Neville was able to observe the manufacture of rinded cheddar in 80 pound wheels that was exported to the United Kingdom; his father was a director of the local cheese factory. He has not gone too far from his roots and appreciates the challenges faced by existing and new entries into the dairy business. Looking forward, Neville continues to see rewarding opportunities for added-value to milk across the spectrum of dairy products.

Margaret Morris

Margaret Morris is the managing director of Glengarry Cheesemaking & Dairy Supply. The company has been in operation for 11 years as a supplier of ingredients, packaging materials, small scale processing equipment, imported cheese moulds and technical support services to hobbyist and commercial specialty cheesemakers in North America. Along with a staff of four, the company services clientele to develop and enhance fine cheese. In the coming year, the company is expanding into commercial production to supply an anxious market in Canada for washed rind variety cheese. Margaret has been involved in judging specialty cheese at the Warwick Cheese Competition in Quebec in 2005, 2006 and has also judged in local competitions at provincial agricultural fairs.

Michael Qian, Ph.D.

Dr. Michael Qian received his BS degree in chemistry in 1982 from Wuhan University in China, MS degree from the University of Illinois and Ph.D. from the University of Minnesota. His expertise is flavor chemistry. He worked for Land O'Lakes, Inc. for 10 years as a senior flavor chemist. He is currently working at Oregon State University, and his research interests are focused on flavor chemistry of cheese, small fruits and wine. Dr. Qian published 26 peer-reviewed original research papers and book chapters in the field of flavor chemistry and 12 of them are related to cheese or other dairy products. In addition, he gave numerous seminars and workshops nationally and internationally on cheese, whey protein and other products.

Tami Parr

Tami Parr authors the Web site for Pacific Northwest Cheese Project, which focuses on Pacific Northwest artisan cheeses and cheesemakers, as well as educating consumers about the wide variety of local cheeses available to them. She also writes about food and cheese for a number of Web-based and print publications. She lives in Portland, Oregon.

Scott Rankin, Ph.D.

Originally from La Habra, California, Scott Rankin earned degrees in food science from Brigham Young University (BS in 1991, MS in 1992) and Oregon State University (Ph.D. in 1996). He is an assistant professor at the University of Wisconsin-Madison, where he administers extension programs in dairy foods, such as the Milk Processing Control School, Cheese Grading Short Course, and Dairy Chemistry Course and conducts research focusing on the flavor and color of dairy foods. Dr. Rankin is a member of the American Dairy Science Association, the Institute of Food Technologists and the American Chemical Society. He is married, has five children and lives in Cross Plains, Wisconsin.

Eric Rose

Eric has been passionate about good food his whole life. After earning a masters degree in anthropology with a focus on food and nutrition, he found himself in the food and beverage industry where he has been cooking, serving, selling, managing and creating for nearly 20 years. He is very involved in supporting local growers and food suppliers and makes this a priority in his menu choices, in the foods prepared and served, as well as in the cheeses sold at New Seasons Market. Eric has been in charge of the food service and specialty cheese program at New Seasons Market since the company's beginning.

Lee Smith

Lee Smith is the vice president of Phoenix Media Network, Boca Raton, Florida and the publisher and editorial director of Deli Business, a national trade magazine directed to senior executives who have responsibility for the deli, prepared foods and specialty cheese departments. She has written and published many articles and editorials about specialty cheese in all facets. Well traveled, Lee has toured the country tasting specialty cheeses and meeting with cheesemakers. Her 30-year career began with Kings Super Markets in New Jersey as the assistant deli director and specialty cheese buyer. In the 1980s and early '90s, Lee was a senior executive with Gristede's, Cardinal Food Gallery and AJ's Fine Foods, where one of her responsibilities was developing specialty cheese programs. More recently, she was on the staff of Rutgers University working with dairy farmers in northern New Jersey and the New Jersey Department of Agriculture to develop value-added dairy products thereby reducing dairy farmers' reliance on revenues from commodity milk sales.

Juliana Uruburu

Juliana Uruburu directs the cheese selection, merchandising, education and promotions for The Pasta Shop, a Northern California specialty food store. A bay area institution for two decades, The Pasta Shop is known as a store for those passionate and knowledgeable about food and cooking. The cheese counters reflect a large selection of over 200 cheeses from around the world, appealing to a wide variety of tastes. In 2005, Saveur named The Pasta Shop as one of the 20 best places to buy cheese in the U.S. Juliana directs staff cheese training, customer classes, including The Pasta Shop's annual series of wine and cheese pairing classes. Juliana merges her food experience with her interior architecture degree to create dynamic displays and merchandising plans. Much in demand at local cooking schools, Juliana teaches private cheese classes and orchestrates cheese parties around the bay area. Working with cheese for over 18 years, she is a frequent panelist and cheese judge at industry conferences. Recognized as an individual dedicated to promoting quality cheese and consumption, Juliana was recently inducted into the Guilde des Fromagers.

W.L. "Bill" Wendorff, Ph.D.

Dr. Bill Wendorff graduated from the University of Wisconsin-Madison with a BS in dairy industry, an MS in dairy & food industries and a Ph.D. in food science. After serving 20 years as a technical director in the food industry, he joined the Department of Food Science at the University of Wisconsin-Madison as the extension dairy manufacturing specialist and works primarily with the cheese and whey industries. Dr. Wendorff is the coordinator for various dairy manufacturing short courses at the University of Wisconsin-Madison and has served as a judge in various national and state cheese contests. Since July 2001, he serves as chair of the food science department at UW-Madison. Dr. Wendorff's research activities center on quality and environmental concerns of the dairy industry and development of sheep milk cheeses. He is a member of ADSA, IAFP, IFT and The American Cheese Society.

Les Wood

As a teenager, Les Wood worked for two different dairymen, milking and caring for up to 60 cows. During the summer months, he also baled and hauled many loads of alfalfa hay and during the fall helped with the corn silage harvest. During his college years, Les' family purchased two different dairy farms, which they had for about eight years. It was during this time that he started to gain an appreciation for good quality cheddar cheese. After graduating with a degree in food science, Les took a job as quality assurance supervisor for Mid American Dairyman in Nebraska that allowed him to grade product with the USDA and address quality issues as they arose. He also spent time in Missouri where he worked in research and development. During the last 20 years, Les has served at the California Department of Food and Agriculture, Milk and Dairy Foods Safety Branch as a state dairy inspector. He has also served as a cheese judge during the 2001 and 2005 United States Championship Cheese Contest in Evanston, Illinois and Milwaukee, Wisconsin.
